RUST GENERAL STORE & BISTRO.

A UNIQUE SHOPPING EXPERIENCE
FEATURING EUROPEAN IMPORTS &
HIGHLIGHTING LOCAL MERCHANTS.

RUST General Store is an 1860s inspired general store located within Old Town San Diego State Historic Park. The products are meant to reflect the history and culture of people living in, and the places trading with San Diego during the American & Transitional time periods from 1846-1872.

RUST opened its doors in July 2011 and will continue to expand the interesting and unique product lines to highlight the influence of Northern European travelers, traders, and residents that found their way to what would later become “America’s Finest City,” San Diego, California.

It is our goal to reproduce an ambiance and shopping experience that is appropriate for the historical time period in San Diego, while maintaining an inventory that is interesting and useful for our 21st Century visitors.

The names of each menu item are intended to draw attention to the early San Diego residents as well as areas of San Diego during our interpretive time period. If you would like to know more about these people and places please ask one of the RUST team members.
