Angie's Story

Since 1962

Every year, someone new discovers that having a meal at Angie's is like going back home to eat. They find out what thousands have been discovering since 1962, that Angie's is the place for genuine home-style cooking and good value. At Angie's, the relaxed and friendly atmosphere makes you feel like you belong.

For many, breakfast at Angie's is the way to start the day. Students, business people and families also make it a habit of joining us for lunch and dinner. Many long-time customers don't let a week go by without stopping in for a plate of our famous fish and chips, the meal that made our reputation.

Angie's truly is a family business. In 1962, Bill and Angie Graham converted the front part of their home into a diner which seated 32. In those days, Snider's Flour Milling Company and Waterloo Manufacturing were located behind the house, where Waterloo Town Square is now located. Two years after starting the business, Bill Graham lost his life in a tragic accident, leaving Angie along with her five children, ranging in age from six to fifteen. Angie continued to raise the family and run the business. The restaurant expanded into the dining room, kitchen and sun porch of the original home. In 1971 two of Angie's children, Teresa and Michael purchased the business and expanded to their 2nd location in St. Agatha.

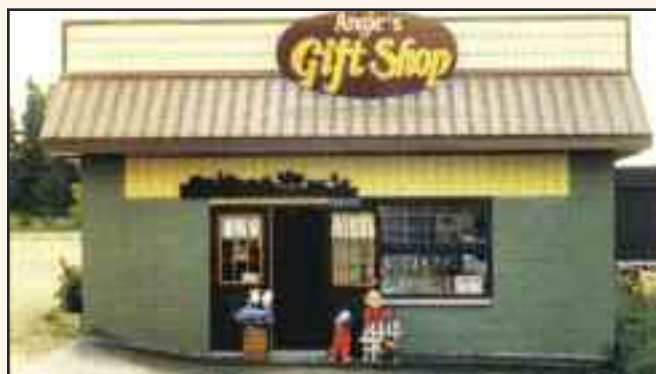

Angie's Country Kitchen was opened in 1976 after two years of extensive renovations. This building was formerly a hotel called the Traveler's Rest and dates back to 1854. The exterior has been restored and the hand hewn beams with wooden dowels in the banquet room have been preserved to complement the early Canadian décor.

Angie passed away November 2, 1997 but the business and her legacy continue as Teresa, Michael and Angie's grandchildren continue to serve hearty country style meals with all the trimmings. The menus have expanded considerably from the early days and offer a wide variety of foods for all tastes making Angie's the place to come back to!

When you celebrate a birthday, anniversary or other special occasion give us a call and we'll help make the occasion a memorable one.

- We are fully licensed to serve liquor and will cater all functions at any location, including our own.
- When visiting the St. Agatha location be sure to pop into the Gift Shop for something unique.
- Gift certificates are available at both locations to allow you to spread the tradition of Angie's to others.

Enjoy both locations located in the heart of Waterloo and in St. Agatha just minutes from: Perimeter Institute of Theoretical Physics, CIGI, University of Waterloo, Wilfrid Laurier University, The Canadian Clay and Glass Gallery, The Princess Theatre, Harbinger Gallery, The Drayton, St. Jacobs and Stratford Theatres.
