

In 2002, after several thrilling years in the corporate world, the Stewart brothers ventured into the restaurant scene by opening a franchise called "The Pita Pit". Three years and thirty thousand pitas later, the brothers launched an eclectic sports bar concept in Short Pump called "The Pour House". Featuring 50 televisions, a putting green, and perogies, The Pour House quickly became a West End hotspot. After adding local celebrity DJ Jizzy Trent as a partner, the Stewart brothers decided to take a plunge into the Innsbrook bar scene by incorporating a Dueling Piano Show and a tropical theme into a place we now call "The Beach House"
